FYI – I got a call from Bo saying we can ignore this for now. They are going to wait for more from CA before they'd want an answer from us.

Hi Erin and Scott –

Thanks again for the discussion earlier today regarding the email below. I spoke with Mike and he thinks there would be some value in also getting Bob's opinion on the subject, therefore would you mind running it past him as well for the tiebreaker?

Thanks so much,
Bo

Mike:

Here's some additional insight from what Debra found out from an earlier voicemail (4/29) response from Margaret Reiff in CA. As Bo indicates, we'll work with OGC to determine the legal possibilities.

Marion J.

Hi Marion,

I had a voicemail waiting for me this morning from Margaret Reiff. She gave a quick run down of the tolfeypyrad issue. It seems that the Section 3 registration in CA for tolfeypyrad is still in process as they are working on a CA only label for Citrus. They have concerns for ecotox and also aquatic concerns. The process for this registration is unlikely to meet the needs of the coming use season.

They are considering 24(c) options, but are unsure as the CA state label will be more restrictive. If they do try the 24(c) SLN for this citrus use, they would send a draft of the labeling to EPA before they issued it.

Marg is out today, but I can follow up with her on Tuesday as needed.

Debra

Rick was contacted by CA citrus about whether there is an option for a 24c for tolfeenpyrad since it is not registered in CA.
Apparently CDPR is still evaluating it and they need to have a public process for their registration decision – whatever it is.
I mentioned it to Bo yesterday and suggested he get with IVB2 and that OGC be consulted as well.
First let's see if this is an option or not and then report back to Rick who can then follow up with CA citrus.

OK, thanks Marion.

Mike, Did Rick raise a specific issue with you about Tolfeenpyrad and CA yesterday?

Donna,

Other than a minor labeling inconsistency issue, which I mentioned briefly to Dan R today in passing, we are not aware of anything. Debra has made a call to her CPDR contact to get a "heads up" to see if there is anything brewing in CA, as well. At the moment, we haven't heard back from CA, but we'll keep you apprised if we do.

Are you all aware of any issue related to Tolfenpyrad and California that might get senior leadership attention?
